Depot Museum & Rest Area Improvements

Currently, the closest rest area and welcome center in Iowa is 20 miles from the Mississippi River. Adding a rest area to the Depot Museum allows visitors to stop and explore the community. The rest area includes a restroom building, an open-air shelter, and walkways that connect those elements. A boardwalk extends to the mitigated wetland area on site.

View looking north of the wetland boardwalk reveals the relationship between the rest area and Depot Museum. The path connects to the existing trail leading toward the wetland center.
