Danny Anderson Park

Danny Anderson Memorial Field and Park

Danny Anderson Memorial Field and Park is a triangular parcel of land that has a nice Little League baseball field with a backstop, team dugouts, and a maintenance shed. Currently, there is not organized parking associated with this park space, creating a difficult pedestrian and vehicular flow pattern before and after ballgames.

Danny Anderson Park is located on the west side of Broad Avenue, just south of the Little Tarkio Creek bridge crossing. The 2-acre park is city-owned, with expansion capacity to the south.

Residents and the steering committee are excited about the proposed southern expansion of the park, which would include a designated parking area. Additionally, the southern expansion allows for the development of two youth soccer fields, along with one soccer field immediately north of the existing Little League field.

Further south of the parking area, the outdoor venue space just north of Center Street will host a variety of community social events.

The new 6'-wide creek access allows water enthusiasts to have an accessible path that connects the community looped trail system down to Little Tarkio Creek.
